Hau's Trial Continues.

Karlruhe, July 19.—Considerable progress was made Thursday in the trial of Karl Hau, the former professor at George Washington university, who is charged with the murder of his wife's mother, Frau Molitor, at Baden Baden. Hau, who was closely interrogated by the presiding judge, finally consented to answer some of the questions on which he had kept silence Wednesday. He admitted sending a dispatch from Paris calling Frau Molitor to that city, an admission that he had refused to make, but he did so, he said, in order to expedite the case.

Re-established a Relief Fund.
Detroit, Mich., July 19.—The supreme tent, Knights of the Macabees of the World, on Thursday re-established the general relief fund for the care of totally and permanently disabled members who were admitted into the order prior to August 1, 1904.

Murder and Suicide at Milan, O.
Milan, O., July 19.—With a bullet hole in the back of his head, William Roberts, aged 40, superintendent of the Milan electric light plant and waterworks, was found dead at the waterworks plant by his son Howard, aged 11, Thursday noon. It is evident that he was murdered. An hour later George Bittner, aged 50, a wealthy farmer, committed suicide. Bittner came to his farm from the direction of the waterworks. He went to the barn and sent a bullet through his head with a revolver that he had in his pocket.

Sentences of Trust Men Suspended.

Toledo, July 19.—The workhouse sentences imposed upon the two bridge trust agents, the 23 Toledo lumber men and the imposition of the $1,000 fines against the local brick men by Judge Morris in common pleas court for violations of the Valentine anti-trust law were indefinitely suspended by the circuit court here Thursday. The petitions in error in behalf of the sentenced men were filed and read by Judges Parker and Wildman, who spent considerable time hearing the arguments. It was declared by the attorneys that the Valentine law did not stipulate where the men shall be imprisoned.

Cannot Escape Liability.

Columbus, O., July 18.—In an opinion rendered by the attorney general to the auditor of state, it is held that ignorance on the part of an owner of real estate that it is being used for school purposes, or stipulations in the lease against such use, cannot relieve him of liability for the Dow tax when liquor is sold on the premises.

Formed a State Organization.

Columbus, O., July 19.—Fruit and vegetable canners of Ohio, called together under the auspices of the National Canners' association, perfected a state organization Thursday. The new organization is to be called the Ohio State Canned Goods Packers, and it was decided to incorporate under this name.

MAN ALMOST GUILLOTINED

Heavy Plate Glass Stops Few Inches From Neck.

ESCAPE IS REMARKABLE

Harvey Roderick Sees Glass Coming Down.

Roderick is Assailed by George Johnson and Pushed Through a Window—Is Badly Cut.

Harvey A. Roderick, aged 30 and married, came near being decapitated in a fight occurring in the front part of Smith & McMan's saloon on North Main street Thursday afternoon, about 4 o'clock.

Roderick was perched in the window at the side of the vestibule leading to the saloon entrance when he became engaged in a quarrel with George W. Johnson. Johnson became enraged and struck Roderick full in the face.

Roderick's head was driven through the heavy plate glass window at his rear. His peck lay across the lower part of the window sill and the heavy glass hung over the prostrate man like a guillotine blade.

The upper section of the window fell with terrible weight, but caught in the casing when it was within a quarter of an inch of Roderick's neck. So close was the glass that it was necessary to raise it before Roderick's head could be removed.

Had the glass fallen six inches further it would have meant certain death for the young man. Roderick was badly cut about the face and it was necessary for the physician to take several stitches in closing the wounds.

The victim of the assault appeared in mayor's court a short time after the fight and swore out an affidavit charging Johnson with assault and battery. Johnson was given a hearing at 8 o'clock this morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge and the mayor imposed a fine of $10 and costs. Johnson also agreed to pay for the broken window.

Police Court

David Becher, a plain drunk, was arrested by Officers Hostetter and Duncan on West Center street at 10 o'clock Thursday night. In mayor's court this morning Becher pleaded guilty and was fined $5.

Dick O'Brien was arrested in the alley in the rear of Cleary's blacksmith shop at 1 o'clock this morning by Officer McDonough. O'Brien was gloriously drunk and did not deny it in mayor's court this morning. His spree cost him $5, which he was able to pay.

Blames Men Higher Up.

Cleveland, July 19.—Denying flatly the charges that improper food was purchased for inmates of the city infirmary, hospital and sanitarium, Fred C. Emde on Thursday placed on the men higher up the blame for the other outrageous conditions that the council investigating committee has uncovered. Emde, until a week ago head of the infirmary department, took the stand in his own defense Thursday.

Catch Carp in Celina's Streets.

Lima, O., July 19.—Boys in the residence section of East Celina are catching huge carp in the village streets and alleys as the result of an overflow of the Grand reservoir, the largest artificial body of water in the world. ### GOT THROUGH WITH WINGS.

They Could Be Transferred to the Rival Company.

"You may have read," said the traveling agent of an oil company to the Rochester Democrat, "you may have read that at an investigation by interstate-commerce commissioners witnesses said even ministers of the gospel were bribed to help the oil of a certain company along. That may be pretty strong, but let me tell you about a certain deacon in a certain town on my route. After I had taken orders in the town for a time I found him opposed to me. He was getting a gallon of kerosene free each week, and the way he did talk up the other company was blaspheous to hear. My buyers found that he was hurting the sale of my oil and wanted me to struggle with him. I was delaying the matter and wondering how best to approach the deacon, when I ran across him at the depot one day on my arrival. I knew he did not drink and did not smoke and it was embarrassing to tell just how to approach him. While I was hanging around a friend whispered to me that the other company had gone back on the deacon and was no longer supplying him free. With this knowledge in my possession I braced up to him and said:

"Well, deacon, I hope to convince you yet that my kerosene will give more light than any other made."

"Um!" he replied as he twiddled his thumbs.

"I should like to give Perkins, the grocer, orders to leave a gallon at your house every week free of cost to you."

"Well—I—don't—mind," he slowly replied.

"You can see how it compares with the other company's, you know. I have heard you say that the president of the other concern deserved angels' wings."

"Yes, I believe I have said something to that effect."

"And his kerosene still continues to give the best of satisfaction, does it?"

"Well—er—I couldn't say that. I am not burning any of it now."

"Indeed! And trouble?"

"No particular trouble, except that President Blank seemed to get tired of wearing the angel wings I fastened on to him, and now if you want them you can tell Perkins to send around the gallon weekly!"

Family Reunion in China.

No people on earth observe family ties so closely and hold so many family reunions as the Chinese. The Scotch clans have no closer bonds of union than the families in China. In America it is the individual, but in China it is the family. No important step is taken without a family caucus. If one member goes wrong, the disgrace rests upon the whole family to the remotest degree of relationship. The disgrace often is felt so keenly in case of a heinous crime that the offender is taken away by permission of the courts and the death penalty inflicted by members of the family. That's the way the family purges itself.

The feature in the family life in China is the big reunion once every two years. One member of the family acts as secretary and enters in a big book the new additions to the family. In this way is kept a complete biography of every person in China.—Kansas City Star.

Down on the Farm.

The unsophisticated chap from the city had passed his first night in the old farmhouse.

"Wall, neighbor," drawled the farmer at breakfast, "how did you sleep last night?"

"Sleep?" blurted the city chap in disgust. "Why, man, I was turning and turning all night."

The old man laughed uproariously.

"Kept turning, did you, neighbor? Well, I told you that you would sleep like a top."

"Funny, eh?" Well, do you know there was so much loose straw in the mattress it kept getting in my ears and nose all night."

"Just so, stranger. When you asked about the bed, didn't I say it would tickle you to death?"

And then the old farmer passed over the left-over pie and black coffee.

Indian Prince's Jewels.

When the steamship Arabia arrived at Tilbury, England, recently, four cases of undistinguished appearance were handed over to four men employed by tourist agents. Each man guarded his case with particular care, never releasing his hold upon it during the train journey to town.

On arrival at Liverpool Street station the four men, each hugging his charge, entered a van, sat on their cases, and were driven to Ludgate circus, where the cases were immediately consigned to the safes.

The mysterious boxes contained the hereditary jewels of the Maharajah of Bikaner, who arrived in London a short time ago. The jewels, which are valued at about £25,000, were guarded in India by an armed escort.

Taking No Chances.

An old woman was ill in a tenement, and a kindly neighbor took a bottle of whiskey to her. The neighbor said she would give the old woman a glass of the whiskey then, and another in the morning. The old woman received the first glass. About ten minutes elapsed, and then she suddenly exclaimed:

"You'd better let's hev the other now; ye heer o' so many sudden deaths noo-days."

Safety in Numbers.

Old Uncle Abner, an ex-slave, was very ill, and the daughter of his former master had called to bring him delicacies and to offer consolation. "I hope, Uncle Abner," she said sympathetically, "that you are thoroughly acquainted with the goodness of the Lord."

"Of course, I is, chile," the old negro replied. "Why, honey, I've been converted 'bout 14 times."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Diplomacy.

What He Feared.

"Miss Passay asked Charlie Dunno if I had any engagement Thursday night. And Charlie, without thinking, said he was sure I hadn't any."

"What do you fear?"

"I feel almost certain she meant to invite me to one of those card parties where they play all bridge."

COMPLEXION SECRETS

Only One Way to Secure a Clear Skin.

In most instances a bad complexion is due to neglect of the little things in life that are essential to natural beauty. All manner of suggestions have been offered by skin specialists, but all agree that the only sure way to secure a clear, healthy complexion is to conform closely as possible to the laws of nature.

To preserve your freshness and beauty, you should live simple, take plenty of outdoor exercise, drink quantities of water and be careful of your diet. Remember, too, that beauty is a good deal more than skin deep. It is blood deep, and depends also upon your liver, your kidneys and the activity of your bowels.

For nearly two years now, they have been telling the ladies of the beneficial effects that Laxanola Tonic Tablets have on the skin. The principal ingredients in them are cascara and dandelion and every doctor knows that these remedies cleanse the liver going, drive out impurities, encourage the action of the bowels and help clear up the complexion.

Flocken's Drug Store will gladly pay your 25 cents back if these little tablets fail to thoroughly benefit you.
